ST. ANDREW BROTHERS

SLIM ATTENDANCE AT THE STATE COUNCIL YESTERDAY.

An Address by President Houghteling, of the National Council-The Services for To-Day.

Considerable disappointment was expressed at the slim attendance at the fourth annual convention of the State Council of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, which began its work at St. Paul's Church yesterday morning. It was accounted for by the fact that the diocesian convention is to be held shortly, and that the delegates could not afford to attend both. While the attendance was small, considerable enthusiasm marked the work at the different sessions held during the day. After addresses of welcome delivered by Bishop John Hazen White and Rev. G. A. Carstensen the business meeting was called to order by W. A. Bray, vice president of the State Council. S. A. Haines, streets, the Rev. D. J. Ellison, pastor. The of this city, was chosen chairman to preside in the absence of president William F. Stilz, who has removed to Philadelphia, and J. H. McSheehy, of Logansport, was elected secretary of the convention. Committees were appointed and reports heard from the different chapters throughout the State Frank Abbet read a report of work in the boys' chapters. Reports indicated that the work of the brotherhood is progressing favorably. The following officers of the State Council were elected for the ensuing year: President, R. B. Hillery, of Indianapolis; secretary and treasurer, E. E. Holloway, of Indianapolis; members of the State Council, T. J. Stewart, of Lafayette; Harry J. McSheehy, of Logansport, and Mr. Booth, of Evansville. During the noon recess luncheon was served in the parish house.

At the afternoon session a number of addresses were made on subjects pertinent to the work of the brotherhood. "The Spiritual Work of the Brotherhood Man" was discussed by Rev. N. W. Heermans, rector of Trinity Church, Michigan City, and Rev. A. J. Graham dwelt upon the effects that might be accomplished in the social sphere. Rev. F. C. Coolbaugh, rector of Trinity Church, Logansport, talked of "Brotherhood Work in the Cottage." He thought that the extension not only of the brotherhood, but of the church as well, depended upon the efforts of the brotherhood to reach the people by personal contact. The social questions met personal contact. The social questions met by the brotherhood man, Rev. Mr. Grannis thought, ought to be answered and met on the broad line of the golden rule. Rev. W. W. Raymond, rector of St. Thomas's Church, Plymouth, read an interesting paper on the "Brotherhood in Small Parishes." He deplored the fact that there were so many churches and parishes throughout the country where the Brotherhood of St. Andrew try where the Brotherhood of St. Andrew was entirely unknown and no idea entertained of the work it was undertaking to accomplish. In his own experience he had found the brotherhood very helpful. The brotherhood had staying qualities, he thought, and intended to stay in parishes where it has obtained a foothold for the purpose of expanding and enlarging the church and the spread of the gospel. Much might be accomplished by brotherhood men if they would follow Christ's example and do individual work. The work should be carried among the poor, the destitute and despised, into houses of the rich and into the dwelling places of publicans and sinners, just as Christ had done. The gospel, he said, is not passive, but aggressive, not indifferent but irrepressible. It is sent before it is called for. The work done in the rural parishes for. The work done in the rural parishes was as seed sown, and the harvest time would come when the parishioners moved into the cities. He thought that the brother-hood was coming to be recognized as a powerful factor in the upbuilding of the church. Chairman Haines read a message of greeting from the brotherhood convention being held at Rochester.

James L. Houghteling, of Chicago, president of the National Council, Brotherhood of St. Andrew, spoke of the duties of the director and secretary. Mr. Houghteling prefaced his remarks by referring to the first convention he had ever attended, ten years ago. At that time, he said, there was but a small attendance, and no one then foresaw that the brotherhood would grow to its present mighty proportions. No one to its present mighty proportions. No one should feel discouraged, he thought, because there were so many empty benches, as the work to be accomplished did not depend so much upon the number engaged in it, but the enthusiasm and spirit displayed. The brotherhood has made itself felt, he said, and the spiritual life of the church has improved under its influence. proved under its influence. The secretary and director ought to have high ideals, Mr. Houghteling thought, and should believe that they are doing the work of Christ. The ideal director must be a man who has visions, who has seen the Lord in glory, and who cannot forget it.
"If you have such a man in your chapter Lord in glory, and who cannot forget it.

"If you have such a man in your chapter you should make him a director," said the speaker, "providing he has intellect and one or two other things. He must be sympathetic and able to understand the doubts which assail some men. The director should be able and willing to do anything. He must not expect other men in the chapter to undertake work he is not himself willing to do." To be an ideal secretary, Mr. Houghteling said, it was necessary for a man to be systematic and prompt. The twelve hundred secretaries throughout the country are responsible for the machinery of the brotherhood. "The pictures I have drawn are those of ideal men," said Mr. Houghteling, in conclusion, "but ideal men are the kind that make chapters. The other kind kills that make chapters. The other kind kills

Mr. Haines took the floor and said that a motion to hold the next annual convention at the same time the discesan convention was held would be in order. There was no opposition to this proposition, and the question was referred to the executive committee. It is believed that if both conventions are held at the same time the attendance will be arger, as the delegates will not be under the necessity of making two trips to the meeting place. Attention was called to the fact that but little news from the different chapters of the brotherhood is contributed to the church papers, and the secretary was instructed to prepare "copy" each month and forward it to the editors of the different organs. Secretaries of the chapters were also instrucetd to send items to the State secretary each month. The business session was then declared adjourned. At the session last night a number of short addresses were made on the subjects, "Shall We Go to Church?" and "The Christian Young Man of To-day.' The following programme has been arranged for to-day:

Competent judges have been secured might be accomplished by the brotherhood | to give the various organizations a line on man through individual efforts, and Rev. A. | the horses that will start. These officials will not tolerate any crooked work, such as has been intimated may be seen on the different tracks. They are capable judges of not only the conditions of a horse, but of the ability of the jockeys.

There are plenty of runners in the country and plenty of good ones. The only meetings that will be on during the week of the tween these cities are short and it will cost but little to split the stables and send a portion of the strings here. The money that is hung up at the Indianapolis meeting is as good as most of the amounts hung up at St. Louis, which has the greatest meeting in the West. Of course, the futurity, open and special stakes are excepted. More than half the events at this meeting are run for purses of $200 and $300 and this is the average of the purses offered by the Indianapolis Driving Club. Because the racing public of Indianapolis has been used to $1,000 and $2,000 stakes for the harness horses, there has been a feeling that the Driving Club has not shown a libthat the Driving Club has not shown a liberal spirit in attracting the runners. This is a mistake, it is claimed. The owners of the runners are satisfied. The list of horses that will be on the grounds will be from 400 to 500. The same spirit to win will be exhibited as though futurity stakes were offered for every event. Every horse that comes to the Indianapolis meeting will start at some time during the meeting. This is an assured fact, because none of the owners will send his horses unless in condition to race, the meethorses unless in condition to race, the meeting being of such short duration.

The Driving Club has arranged for a Creveling starting machine, which has been used at St. Louis and in other cities with such great success. There is no tiresome delay in getting the horses off with this machine. Those interested in the running meet-ings at St. Louis, Cincinnati and Louisville are interested in the outcome of the events at Indianapolis, Terre Haute and other cities of the circuit.

Hotspur, the famous world's record horse for one mile and three-quarters, will be among the entries. He has won many events since his famous record, and will start in several of the races during the week. Golden Crown, who was second at Newport in a race of one mile and twenty yards which was won in 1:44, will go in the events at Indianapolis and Terre Haute, as will I. C. W., which runner was third in a mile race at Newport won in 1:41½. Hotspur went seven-eighths at Newport in 1:28¼. Another horse with a big reputation that will enter the events here is Ed Gartland, an animal that won the big Inaugural race at St. Louis last year. George W. Bailey, Gateway and other fast ones and well-known money wibners are among the horses that are on the Terre Haute track ready for the circuit. It opens to-morrow matinee at the Park and remains all week, with two performances daily.

Says Her Husband Kicked Her. Mrs. Robert Schultz, whose husband is a dairyman living near McLainsville, a few miles south of the city on the Shelby pike, appeared at the police station yesterday morning. She was suffering with severe inries to her side, where she said her husband had kicked her. Police Surgeon Courtney attended to her injuries. As McLains-ville is outside of the jurisdiction of the po-lice, Mrs. Schultz was advised to go before one of the justices. In Justice Walpole's court Schultz was charged with assaulting his son, Friday.

HE WAS NOT INSANE

JUDGE HARVEY ORDERS THE RE-LEASE OF OLIVER P. HEALY,

Yet the Police Surgeon Had Testified Before a Commission that the Man Was Demented.

The release of Oliver P. Healy, who was declared insane Thursday, was procured in the Superior Court yesterday on a writ of habeas corpus. The proceedings came up before Judge Harvey, who made up his mind that Healy was being illegally restrained and ordered his release. Healy is about twentyeight years of age. He is a book-binder by trade and has been working for the Sentinel Printing Company. Members of that company testified that they believed Healy was sane. The prisoner was put on the stand, but his demeanor did not indicate a dethroned reason.

Dr. Courtney, the police surgeon, said he had been called in by the commission which adjudged Healy insane, and had given it as New York. his opinion that the prisoner was demented. The boys explained that they found the boat drifting around with a hole in the bottom. They picked it up and repaired it. B. H. Dowding, an alleged Pinkerton detective, was fined $50 and costs, for carrying concealed weapons.

A Saloon Keeper Discharged. The case of the State against J. B. Mick, charged with selling liquor without a license, was called up in the Criminal Court yesterday for trial. The prosecuting witnesses could not be found, and on motion of Mick's attorney the court discharged him. Mick had a saloon at Brightwood when the

Was Expelled from the Society. The jury in the case of John Simon against the St. Joseph's Church Society to recover damages found a verdict yesterday for the defendant. Simon charged that he was expelled from the society on false and groundless charges and was deprived of certain financial benefits. He sought to recover $5,000.

Probate Matters. The will of Wm. H. Baker, bequeathing the entire estate of the decedent to his wife. Sarah C. Baker, was probated in the Circuit Court yesterday. Mrs. Baker furnished a bond of $4,000 as executrix of the estate.
